Today, in the 21st century, globalization is increasingly consolidated and is increasingly part of our lives, with the abolition of economic borders and soon, with the possibility of world federalism and the creation of democratic bodies at a global level. Alongside this, the idea of a world revolution and the creation of a World Socialist Republic that is able to enjoy all the benefits of a globalized and unified world economically, politically and even socially and culturally emerges more and more. However, the question arises as to how it is possible to carry out the world revolution under these conditions.

An analogy we could make to this is as if the world were a unified country with a capitalist government, which I will call here Earth Federation, in Earth Republic, the continents and Republics that are part of the Federation are well united and connected with each other. And it starts going through a moment of crisis and being in a state of starting a revolution. So, another analogy we could make would be the Russian revolution, where the revolution started and spread throughout Russia practically, in this case, it would be no different in the Earth Federation, it would follow a logic similar to the Russian revolution and that would lead to creation, in the case of the Earth Federation, the Union of Socialist Earth Republics or, as mentioned at the beginning of the article, the World Socialist Republic.

Of course the proportions between Earth and Russia are very different, the Earth is much bigger than Russia and has a lot more difficulties, of course it's bigger and has more difficulties, but what I meant is that proportionally it is possible to have a world revolution, where, through globalization and rapid information, it would be possible to make several revolutionary foci on all continents and then go to revolutionary struggle all over the world, thus realizing the world revolution.

Returning to the condition we are in, we see that in the case of a world federation and a well-globalized world, a world revolution is possible, of course the example could be better, but I tried to be as simple as possible. We live in a world where the phrase "workers of the world, unite yourselves!" is increasingly popular. it makes more and more sense and we get closer and closer to the realization of this revolutionary phrase.

In order to succeed in the world revolution, we must first organize and prepare ourselves, unite revolutionary movements around the world through the creation of revolutionary organizations that are analogous to the bodies proposed by the world federalist movement, thus working for the creation of revolutionary organizations at the level world and being able to integrate several revolutionaries and unite them as a single country and union.

If in the 1920s they already feared a world revolution, today, in the 2020s, one can fear it even more, more and more, the proletariat has access to information and technology, more and more countries are increasingly united and increasingly It becomes easier for us to learn other languages and languages, it becomes easier for us to mobilize revolutionaries and people all over the world, and to make demonstrations and protests using only the Internet and technology.

We increasingly see that globalization and world federalism do not hinder the world revolution, but rather prepare the space for what would and could be the world revolution. Internationalism has never made so much sense these days, more and more people and revolutionaries see the Earth as their own country, and so we are increasingly realizing that the world of the phrase "workers of the world unite" is part of our lives and technology making it possible to unite the proletariat and revolutionaries from all over the world.

Globalization and world federalism can indeed be positive for the world revolution and facilitate even more the world revolution, as long as we know how to use them, as in the case of alter-globalization and left-wing world federalism, we just need to have the will, focus and planning to the realization of the world revolution in the next few years or decades, or rather, start planning for it and begin the first steps towards its consolidation. And always remembering that today the phrase "Workers of the world, unite!" it is increasingly making sense in the globalized and almost federalist world society in which we live.
